Gerontology Impact Startup Challenge: CDO303GER

The Impact Startup Challenge is a series of courses which offers students to generate ideas, test, validate and pivot their proposals through the startup ecosystem. Come join us for this special final pitching session for the inaugural track on Gerontology.

Dr Kelvin Tan (PhD, HKU) has many years of experience in innovation initiatives and senior care for the community and startups. He is a mentor/advisor in German Accelerator, People’s Association, One & Co and Ageing Asia.

SUSS Gerontology Programme is delighted to partner Sau Po Centre on Ageing, The University of Hong Kong to showcase the innovative startup projects from SUSS multidisciplinary students in the Impact Startup Challenge (Gerontology).

The two universities have a MOU to promote exchange of knowledge between students and academics in the field of Gerontology.

Through this session, we can inspire both communities to tap on the strong culture of learning and advocacies for older adults.
